BODY IS FOUND

Mystery Solved When Storm Drives Body Ashore.

Face and Hands Are Badly Mutilated and Police Believe She Was In Water Since Day She Disappeared.

New York, Jan. 5.—The mystery urrounding the disappearance of Jesie E. McCann, the twenty-three-yearold Brooklyn girl, who vanished from her home a month ago, was solved when her body was washed ashore at Coney Island.

Owing to the $1000 reward offered, the countrywide details sent broadcast concerning her dress and the jewelry she wore, there was unceasing vigilance on the part of the coast guards and employes along the beach fronts to find the missing girl.

When George Neuse, a watchman, saw a woman's body on the Coney Island beach and noticed that it was clothed in a brown coat, green waist and white stockings, he immediately concluded that it was the body of Miss McCann.

Neuse called up police headquarers and Inspector Faurot, of the detective bureau, hastened to Coney Island after notifyinf Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who lives in the neighborhood.

The two men hurried over to the beach and ordered the body taken to the Coney Island morgue.

There, on closer examination, it was seen that a signet ring still clung to the third finger of the right hand, This ring bore the initials "J. E. M."

The police officials at once were convinced that the body was that of Miss McCann. The face was so severely disfigured that none of the features were recognizable and the hands were badly mutilated, so that the only hope of positive indentification lay in the clothing and the ring.

Mr. Dougherty notified Robert G. McCann, father of the missing girl, at custom, he attended the one church his residence, 438 East Twenty-first on the gulf coast where he was not street, Flatbush, of the finding of the body.

Noted Herve Specialist Dies in Philadelphia.

His Reputation In the Medical Profession is Equalled By His Fame in Mitchell, noted author and physician, ing. lied at his home, 1524 Walnut street. Death was due to an acute attack of the grip, the seriousness of which was accentuated by his advanced age, eighty-five years.

Silas Weir Mitchell was born in Philadelphia on Feb. 15, 1829. He was educated in the grammar schools of the city and entered the medical department of the University of Pennylvania. Owing to sickness, however, ne was forced to leave in the middle of his senior year. He later finished his course and was given his degree by the Jefferson Medical college.

In later life he was given honorary degrees by two foreign universities, the University of Bologna giving him an honorary M. D., while the University of Toronto gave him his LL. D. He was also an honorary member of the French Academy of Medicine, of the British Medical society and a fellow in the Royal Medical Chirurgical

Dr. Mitchell first took up writing hortly after the Civil War. He was luring the war connected with the irst hospital established in this country for the treatment of nervous diseases resulting from gunshot wounds. His first book was a medical treatise on this subject. Its success led him to continue his writing. However, for the next five or six years his works were all on medical subjects and had small popular sale, though they became classics in his own profession.

His interest in Philadelphians and his native city and state was always his writings. His life reached back to a period when a few colonial customs and ways survived and when many persons were still living who could ell him more.

This knowledge of Philadelphia and state affairs in the early days is apparent, especially in his novel, "Hugh Rebels Renew Attack and Storm Town From West.

Presidio, Texas, Jan. 5 .- More than 000 rebels, the combined forces under General Ortega and General Rodriguez, renewed the attack on Ojinaga and stormed the town from the west. The fight for the new position seems have given the rebels a slight advantage and they rapily advanced on he garrison. The rebels attempted to take the garrison from the north, but this proved disastrous to them and many of their troops were moved down from he terrible resistance put up by the Pederals.

Retreating from the Arroyo, a mile and a half from the garrison, the rebels, under the command of Ortega, moved to the Conchos river and there joined the forces of General Rodri guez and resumed their attack.

The rifle and common fire of the reb els has been very effective and more than seventy of the government orces are said to have been killed and 150 wounded. The Federals believe that the rebel losses are equally as

Fashionably Dressed She Kills Herself in Hotel.

Philadelphia, July 5 .- The body of a well-dressed young woman, who from letters found in her clothing is believed to have been Miss Nellie Ross, of 1115 Rice avenue, Lima, O., was found in a room in a hotel at Front and Arch streets. She had shot herself and had been dead for some time when found.

A new automatic revolver was found beside the body. Detectives believe she may have come to Philadelphia to kill herself after being enticed east by a New York man.

All of the woman's clothing was of good quality, and her toilet articles and traveling bag were better than most women carry. When found she was lying across the bed, fully dress ed. She had left no message or letter to tell the motive for her deed.

Detective Charles Grimmes made lengthy investigation of the case and said he believed it was not the usual simple suicide the hotel people were

From a letter found in the woman's effects and now in the possession of Grimmes, it is believed she came east in response to a letter written by a New York man. From other letters she must have left New York about two months ago and gone to Wayne, where she stayed a short time. From postals found it is believed he woman left Wayne and went to Tampa, Fla., and returned to Philadel phia by boat. Landing, she evidently went straigth to the hotel where she ended her life. The hotel is close to the boat landings and ferries.

No sailing ship of European type is now engaged in regular trade to Hongkong, and even Chinese junks are being robbed of local business by power vessels of various kinds. #### FEEDING BEEF CATTLE.

A Good Margin of Profit In Fattening Home Raised Calves.

There are several reasons why beef cattle are scarce, but one of the foremost is that farmers are selling their veal calves at the age of six weeks, writes W. G. Noland in the Orange Judd Farmer. They do not consider how much loss is incurred by doing so. These calves can be placed on pasture, and before the owner realizes it they are old and large enough to be put on dry feed and be fattened for market. This is one reason for the scarcity of feeding cattle and high priced beef, but most of the farmers who sell calves at such a tender age do it because they don't care to or don't know how to feed a steer for market.

A calf that is born, reared and fattened on the same farm is the one that pays. Not only is it a better feeder, but it is generally a quiet and hearty animal. Not every farmer, of course, is prepared to feed cattle. but if he wishes he can be without a great deal of expense. Not every farmer, on the other hand, knows how to feed and fatten cattle, but this can be learned by beginning with a small number and gaining experience little

I have found that it is poor economy to underfeed, however expensive feeding material may be. If a berd of cattle is on the farm to be fattened the cornerib must not be nailed solid nor contents spared. When I am feeding cattle I use whatever feeds I have that will be eaten to advantage and with a relish. I use bran, crushed corn, corn stover, hay, cottonseed meal, and give free access to rock salt. I have warm sleeping quarters and a good stack of straw in the lot where the animals are kept. It is a loss to any cattle feeder to try to make a profit on a herd of cattle without having hogs to follow them. Much corn is thrown from the feeding troughs by the indifferent steer, and this scattered grain, including the droppings, makes a fattening ration for a number of good sized shotes.

Those who can get cattle and hogs to feed should not question the advisability of feeding the corn rather than selling it at an unsatisfactory price. The price for good beef is likely to hold.

To make this short feed the steers ought to range in weight from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds when purchased. Then as heavy cattle are always in demand by packers they should make a large

ADDED BRILLIANCY TO GEMS

Jewelers of Ancient Egypt Knew More of the Craft Than Do Those of Today.

The jewelers of ancient Egypt knew nore than modern craftsmen about treating gems so that they would shine and sparkle, according to the Independent. Such gems as the emerald, garnet, and jacinth were livefier and more luminous in the days of the Ptolemies than they can be made today. It is known that the diamond, ruby, emerald and kunzite became phosphorescent or fluorescent under certain circumstances.

Gems exhibit the liveliest phosphorescence in vacuum tubes. Even in rarified air some diamonds give out a blue light which is not present in a denser atmosphere. In a vacuum a diamond of four or five carats gives as much light as a candle. The color of the light differs not only with the grain of the diamond, but with the facets of the same diamond. Maskelyne made a collection of diamonds which glowed in a vacuum with nearly all the colors of the spectrum. An uncut stone which was roughly cube shape, with truncated corners and edges, emitted orange yellow light from the faces of the cubes, pale yellow from the corners and lemon yellow from the flat edges. Next to the diamond stands the ruby as highly phosphorescent in a vacuum. The ruby emits a beautiful red light, as though it were incandescent. Kunzite shines with a golden yellow or yellow tinged with rose. The emerald shines with a crimson light. The same gems become phosphorescent under the influence of radium. The ultra-violet rays also produce luminosity in gems. It is well known that rubies from the mines of Burma are more valuable than those from neighboring Siam. Externally they look much alike, but under the ultra-violet rays the Burmese stones which are called Oriental rubies, glow like red embers, while the Siamese rubies look almost black.

That Roused Him.

Every policeman knows that when a man is found asleep, particularly if he happens to be under the influence of liquor, a severe rap on the soles of the feet will arouse him sooner than anything else. Adolphus Shafer, the veteran policeman at the Traction Terminal station, found an obstinate sleeper in the station one night long ago. The man was stretched out. his feet extending far beyond, the stend of spending them all for such soles of his shoes in just the right position, and Shafer applied the usual she asked. tactics. Try as he would, though, he sleep. So Shafer applied another the graves."

"All right, boys," he said, "just let him stay there for a few minutes and I'll call the ambulance. We will send him to the hospital and let the doctors cut off his right leg-"

But the policeman never finished the sentence. The "sleeper" was "awake" in a second and had started out the exit.-Indianapolis News.

Suffrage in Norway.

Miss Ellen Gleditsch, co-worker of Mme. Currie in the preparation of her book on radium and an ardent suffragist, lectured Monday afternoon be fore the Woman's Political union, New York city, on conditions in Norway, where equal suffrage has been extended to the women. She did not touch on the subject of radium.

In Norway, said Miss Gleditsch. there were 90,000 more women than men. The women, she said, had long taken a prominent part in the life of the country, its government and business, and had "made good." It had been shown, she said, that equal suffrage lent itself to the good of the race and of the country.

Miss Gleditsch is well known as a scientist and is at present studying in the laboratories at Yale on a fellowship which was presented to the Scandinavian society.

Clouds of dust, interspersed with hair, threads, and miscellany, are the result. But nobody seems to mind except myself, so the microbe scattering goes merrily on."

The two little girls who begged the privilege of picking up the windfall apples in the yard were very poorly dressed, save for the ribbons that bound their hair. When the little ones had gathered a copious harvest, madam thought she had earned the right to give them a bit of advice.

elrestasping every kind will be served heading

We take this occasion to wish all our friends and customers every prosperity that we hope for ourselves for 1914 and to thank them for making our business for 1913 the largest in our almost 29 years experience, notwithstanding unfavorable weather for selling heavy winter merchandise. So long as this store continues to have the confidence of the people in its methods and merchandise it will continue to grow. This CONFIDENCE, we feel, is well established and it is our duty to maintain it by continued integrity, and a desire and ability to supply the wanted merchandise at the most economical prices.

Try going without your favorite newspaper for a day or so and you will realize what an important part it plays in the lives of our people.

To most readers the advertisements are as important as the so called news. They are the bulletins of commerce. Newspaper readers soon grow to have an unconscious intimacy with advertisers whose names they see day after day. When they want anything they naturally turn to these advertisers because they know them.

If you do not advertise, you are hampered from the start. You do not get the trade of the great and the growing army of newspaper readers unless it is by accident.

There is another question you might ask yourself:-"Does my business increase as it should?" Then put the same question to some of your friends who man Murdered Tuesday Night. Former Resident of Near Fairfield. His Slayer Killed.

MURDERED MAN FROM FAIRFIELD

Abe Barnes, the slayer of Policemaking the arrest.

It was after midnight when Sheriff Walker and Davies, accompanied by a efforts to arrest Daywalt's murderer.

Approaching the Barnes home they saw a team driven by Barnes' sister, Rose, going in the direction of a house where the outlaws had gone into hiding. Davies got into the wagon and ordered the girl to drive ahead.

Davies had his rifle in his hand. They came near the home of Abe Barnes and as they approached Abe himself came from the side of the building to meet his sister, and Bill was just behind him. The older Barnes brother also had a rifle in his hands. The two boys did not know Davies and came toward the buggy, slowly. If Rose gave them any sign it is not known but they halted. Davies called

"Boys come here, I want you. I am a State officer."

"I'll die before you get me" called Abe as he pointed his rifle at the policeman's heart. Abe was standing with his left side toward Davies and was backing toward the mountain. with Bill behind him. Just as Abe threw the gun into position to shoot, side of the back and dropping him to the ground.

"Drop that gun or I'll shoot you too" called the Corporal to Bill and seeing his danger, the man obeyed.

Getting from the buggy Davies and William Barnes and the girl carried the wounded man into his house and then the posse came.

On their way toward the Barner house Sheriff Walker and his party heard the shot and knew something was up. Huerta Declares He Will Not Seven Relations With U. S. or Change Attitude Towrds Americans.

Washington, Feb. 5.-Following the action in raising the embargo on the shipments of arms to Mexico from the United States, the administration promptly reverted to its policy of 'watchful waiting."

It was indicated at the state department that there is no further step in contemplation and that this government will sit back and wait for the Constitutionalists to do the work of ridding the country of Huerta and his government.

Apprehension that the announcement of the raising of the embargo would result in disorders in Mexico would result in disorders in Mexico City and attacks on Americans were SENATE SEAT LOST largely dispelled with the receipt of unofficial reports that the situation remained quiet in the Mexican capital. Shaughnessy that he would not ask him to leave the country, and that he would take no action in retaliation against the United States government.

This assurance was regarded as consive and little fear, if any, is now atertained of disorders in Mexico ity as a result of the president's acon. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has reported hat the city is quiet and that no disrders are feared.

Constitutionalist agents in Washingon are much elated over the presient's action. It was said that about ,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition re already on the frontier and will sent across the line at once. Large antities of ammunition are at New rleans waiting shipment to Mexico. dditional orders for ammunition and or carbines will be placed in New ork, though revolutionist agents in ashington have refused to give dealls of these orders.

This assurance was given by Huerta.

The Mexican dictator made practially no other comment on the action of President Wilson, to which he appeared to attach little importance. O'Shaughnessy called on Huerta, but the question of lifting the embargo on arms was mentioned only incidentally and briefly, according to O'Shaughnessy.

They were together half an hour, and President Huerta reiterated to O'Shaughnessy the declaration that President Wilson's action would not cause him to adopt retaliatory meas ures. He assured O'Shaughnessy that he had in the capital a sufficient num ber of troops to suppress any anti American demonstration that might O'Shaughnessy, with his secretary, Parker, went to the national palace again and conferred with Huerta and Ministers Moheno and Lozano.

The conference was followed by a summons from Huerta, calling a cabi net meeting. Palace attaches said the entire situation then would be gone over carefully. This announcement was followed by conicting rumors that Huerta would resign or that he would give O'Shaughnessy his passports Both were immediately denied by gov ernment officials.

Act For Votes For Woman.

Wasington, Feb. 5 .- The Democratic party was formally placed on record as opposed to national legislation con ferring the right of suffrage on wo men, by the majority leader, Repre sentative Oscar W. Underwood, on the floor of the house.

This came as a sequel to the action of the Democratic house caucus in voting down, by 127 to 57, the proposal to create a committee on woman suf frage and the declaration of Presiden Wilson to two delegations of woman suffragists that he could do nothing t aid their cause.

Underwood declared he believed with his party, that the suffrage ques tion was for the states and not the national government to determine.

Representative Lenroot, Republican injected the question into the house debate by asking Underwood whether he would use his influence to have reported a resolution for a suffrage committee, an action which the Demo cratic caucus had refused to take.

"Will the gentleman use his influence to have that resolution reported so that the house may vote on it?" demanded Lenroot. "I will not," replied Underwood

AN AUSTRALIAN SINGER

Scotch Ballads Her Favorites

The more one studies the biography of eminen't musicians, whether composers or artists, the more the universality of the divine art is emphasized. No one country or clime seems ever to have been able to have a monopoly of music. In far-off Melbourne, Australia, Nellie Mitchell Melba was born. Her musical career was determined early in life and she gave up the famly name of Mitchell when she made ier debut after studying with Marchesi in Paris. Her debut in Brussels in 'Rigoletto" was the occasion when he name "Melba" suggestive of Melbourne, her native city, was first used. n European musical centers her voice captivated her hearers, whether cultivated or uncultivated in music. ier American tours were successive triumphs, and when the enthusiasm of the audience was at its height there was a swelling of hearts when her beautiful tones rendered "Robin Adair" or "Mary of Argyle." Lier favorite selections or encores seemed to be the Scotch ballads-ballads that were especially popular among her home people in early childhood.

"Robin Adair" and "Mary of Argyle" are both to be found in "Heart Songs", the famous song book now being offered by this paper at what might be called the price of printing. We cannot endorse too emphatically the wonderful opportunity to obtain a song collection that will give pleasure for years, for practically the publisher's cost.

TOWARD BURDER

Pebels Take Advantage of Order Raising Embargo.

QUIET

Huerta Declares He Will Not Sever Relations With U. S. or Change Attitude Towrds Americans.

Washington, Feb. 5.-Following the action in raising the embargo on the shipments of arms to Mexico from the United States, the administration promptly reverted to its policy of "watchful waiting."

It was indicated at the state department that there is no further step in contemplation and that this government will sit back and wait for the Constitutionalists to do the work of ridding the country of Huerta and his

City and attacks on Americans were unofficial reports that the situation remained quiet in the Mexican capital. Huerta is reported to have told Charge O'Shaughnessy that he would not ask him to leave the country, and that he would take no action in retaliation gainst the United States government.

This assurance was regarded as consive and little fear, if any, is now ntertained of disorders in Mexico ity as a result of the president's acon. Mr. O'Shaughnessy has reported hat the city is quiet and that no dis-rders are feared. Constitutionalist agents in Washingon are much elated over the presient's action. It was said that about .000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition re already on the frontier and will e sent across the line at once. Large antities of ammunition are at New rleans waiting shipment to Mexico. dditional orders for ammunition and or carbines will be placed in New ork, though revolutionist agents in ashington have refused to give deails of these orders.

WON'T SEVER RELATIONS

uerta and American Charge Hold Two Long Conferences.

Mexico City, Feb. 5 .- President Wilon's determination to give both facons in Mexico liberty to obtain war naterial from the United States will a to deliver to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, he American charge d'affaires, his assports; nor will it affect in an ay his attitude toward the United States or toward Americans in Mexico. This assurance was given by Huerta.

The Mexican dictator made practically no other comment on the action of President Wilson, to which he appeared to attach little importance. O'Shaughnessy called on Huerta, but the question of lifting the embargo on arms was mentioned only incidentally and briefly, according to O'Shaughnessy.

They were together half an hour. and President Huerta reiterated to O'Shaughnessy the declaration that President Wilson's action would not cause him to adopt retaliatory meas ires. He assured O'Shaughnessy that e had in the capital a sufficient num ber of troops to suppress any anti-American demonstration that might O'Shaughnessy, with his secretary, Parker, went to the national palace again and conferred with Huerta and Ministers Moheno and Lozano.

The conference was followed by a summons from Huerta, calling a cabl net meeting. Palace attaches said the entire situation then would be gone over carefully. This announcement was followed by conicting rumors that Huerta would resign or that he would give O'Shaughnessy his passports Both were immediately denied by gov ernment officials.

NO HALL OF FAME FOR M'DEVITT

Congress Denies Place to "Millionaire-For-a-Day."

DEDICATORY SPEECH N. C.

"Butch" Told Crowd He Must Die to Get Place For Statue and He Object ed to "Cashing In."

Washington, Feb. 5 .- In a rough box much the same as undertakers use John ("Butch") McDevitt, who spent $3000 in a futile attempt to get congress and the nation to accept a statue of his pink-haired and freckled self, shipped back to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the McDevitt in bronze he had hoped to leave behind to keep company with the marble and bronze statues of the nation's famous.

"Jawn," who blazed his way into the capitol with all the pomp of a foreign ambassador, beat it back to the coal fields, congress having refused There was nothing for "Butch" to do but sing "Back, Back, Back to Baltimore," thence back to Philadelphia The "one-day milionaire" was crestfallen, and almost "cattle-trained" it back, packing his shapely self and the twenty-one others of his party into an overcrowded day coach.

With the bulk of his bank roll gone and the holes once more showing themselves in his pockets, Jawn Jay could not come across with the long green for "extras."

In the baggage coach ahead rested the boxed statue of Jawn, and it went back as common express, there being no waiting crowds en route to cheer the original or the plaster cast.

"Butch" made a good getaway. To a rowd of 3000 people at Seventh and C streets and under the shadow of the G. A. R. monument, the "busted millionaire" delivered his farewell ad-

Major Sylvester, head of the Wash ington police, met a committee of Mc Devitt's friends and agreed to permi Butch" to make his getaway speech, but he refused "Butch" the right to parade his statue exposed to public ond which the senate has settled in view, and John Jay was unable to de liver the dedicatory address which h had rehearsed for weeks and which had believed was to take rank with Lin coln's address at Gettysburg.

His departure stirred up considerable curiosity and when he left his hoback a few thousand persons who Democrats Against Nationa craned their necks and stood on their toes for a parting glimpse at the best like face of "Jawn."

McDevitt made no splurge in his trip down the avenue and with no band to announce his coming, he passmaker and Glenn H. Curtiss have ed almost unnoticed until he came to Market Square, where he was to make his final dip for fame.

The police opened a way for his automobile. McDevitt stood on the seat of the car and in five minutes said all he had to say. "Butch" provoked a laugh when he said that he discovered he would have to die to get his statue in the hall of fame, and because he is not willing of 10,000 feet in twelve or fifteen to "cash in," he discovered that his statue was still on his hands. He told the crowd that he had a gay old time,

"When I get home," he said, "the old man (meaning his father, Charles McDevitt), will ask me why I didn't leave my statue in the capitol. I'll have to tell him congress would not take it, and the old man will suggest was found on a porch at Pine Grove, a bad idea. When I get another bank roll I'll take the statue to Ireland and offer it to a people who will appreciate greatness and genius.

WON'T AID SUFFRAGE, SAYS UNDERWOOD

Act For Votes For Women.

Wasington, Feb. 5 .- The Democratic party was formally placed on record as opposed to national legislation con ferring the right of suffrage on wo men, by the majority leader, Representative Oscar W. Underwood, on the floor of the house.

This came as a sequel to the action of the Democratic house caucus in voting down, by 127 to 57, the proposal to create a committee on woman suf frage and the declaration of Presiden Wilson to two delegations of woman suffragists that he could do nothing to aid their cause. Underwood declared he believed with his party, that the suffrage ques tion was for the states and not the national government to determine.

Representative Lenroot, Republican injected the question into the house debate by asking Underwood whether he would use his influence to have reported a resolution for a suffrage committee, an action which the Demo cratic caucus had refused to take.

"Will the gentleman use his influence to have that resolution reported so that the house may vote on it? demanded Lenroot. "I will not," replied Underwood

because I am not in favor of it. I there is one principle my party stands for, it is local self-government. I there is one single question that the Democratic party is committed to it is that the franchise should be con trolled by the individual states."

Hope of votes for women through constitutional amendment was placed in the women of the west by the Con gressional Union for Woman Suffrage It was announced that the union would turn to the women of ten wester: states having a vote, through the National Council of Women Voters. for support in their demand for the amendment.

Scotch Ballads Her Favorites

The more one studies the biography f eminen't musicians, whether comosers or artists, the more the universality of the divine art is emphasized. No one country or clime seems ever to have been able to have a monopoly of nusic. In far-off Melbourne, Austraia, Nellie Mitchell Melba was born. Her musical career was determined early in life and she gave up the famly name of Mitchell when she made er debut after studying with Marchsi in Paris. Her debut in Brussels in Rigoletto" was the occasion when he name "Melba" suggestive of Melourne, her native city, was first used. n European musical centers her oice captivated her hearers, whether ultivated or uncultivated in music. ier American tours were successive triumphs, and when the enthusiasm of the audience was at its height there was a swelling of hearts when her beautiful tones rendered "Robin Adair" or "Mary of Argyle." Ler favorite selections or encores seemed to be the Scotch ballads-ballads that were especially popular among her home people in early childhood.

"Robin Adair" and "Mary of Argyle" are both to be found in "Heart Songs", the famous song book now being offered by this paper at what might be called the price of printing. We cannot endorse too emphatically the wonderful opportunity to obtain a song collection that will give pleasure for years, for practically the publish-

PICKS PALMER FGR GOVERNOR

President's Choice For Pennsylvania State Ticket.

MESTREZAT FOR U. S. SENATE

Leaders Conferred With Wilson to Select a Ticket Most Likely to Bring Democratic Victory.

Washington, Feb. 5. - President the lip shaped. Wilson went over the political situation in Pennsylvania with reorganiza in the upper lip treatment, a section and removes dandruff, stops scalp ham heifer, one year old; one Holstein Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy tion Democratic leaders.

The purpose of the consultation was bring about a Democratic victory in this section, too, had taken hold. the Keystone state next November. The following decision was reached:

governor. Justice S. Leslie Mestrezat for United States senator, with the possibility that Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson may be later agreed upon.

Former Representative William T Creasy, of Catawissa, of the Pennsylvania State Grange, for lieutenant gov-

The emocrats who laid the Pennsylvania situation before the president Military were Congressman Palmer, Roland S. Morris, of Philadelphia, chairman of the Democratic state committee; James I. Blakeslee, fourth assistant postmaster general; Vance C. McCormick, of Harrisburg, and Secretary of Labor Wilson.

The only point upon which there was serious difference of opinion was the wisdom of Secretary Wilson leaving the cabinet to oppose Senator Boies Penrose, who, while he has not made a formal announcement to that effect, is regarded as a candidate for the Republican nomination and re-

President Wilson, it was said, opposed, or at least did not encourage Secretary Wilson's suggested candidacy for senator. He is understood to have interposed objection to losing Secretary Wilson as an "advisor," but pointed out that his former connection with the organized labor movement as secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America might inject class feeling into the Pennsylvania campaign and prove an element of weakness rather than of

President Wilson, it was said, made it plain that he had no thought of injecting himself into a state campaign or of overriding the judgment of the Democratic leaders on the ground and best able to judge of state and local

The conferees said that they went to the White House by appointment, having requested the president to give them the benefit of his advice as to political conditions which were laid before him last week.

As regards the senatorship, Secretary Wilson expressed himself as of the president's mind, and said that his individual preference was to remain in the cabinet. Stress was laid upon Justice Mestrezat's fitness for a seat in the senate, his training as a lawyer and jurist being urged as strongly in his favor as against the candidacy of a layman, even though the claim of vote getting popularly might be advanced for the latter.

The conference is regarded as a ful endorsement of Palmer's leadership in Pennsylvania by the president, and as indicating the intention of the administration to give substantial "com fort and aid" to the reorganization Democrats of that state.

With "proof" of the president's interest in their plans, reorganization Democrats are confident that they will not only be able to overcome the candidacy of City Solicitor Michael J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, but to bring about harmony within the party and to go to the polls next November with unbroken party ranks.

PERU'S PRESIDENT SEIZED BY REBELS

Revolutiontists Will Exile Him.

Lima, Peru, Feb. 5 .- The president of the Republic of Peru, Guillermo illinghurst, was taken prisoner by nilitary revolutionists.

President Bilinlghurst was later aken by the rebels to Callao, from which port he will be sent into exile n a foreign contry.

The rebels attacked the presidential palace under the leadership of Colonel Benavides. General Enrique Varela, oremier and minister of war, was House, 22 Carlisle St. Heat P. A. Miller, Clerk killed in the sharp fighting that en-

Dr. Auguste Durand, a former revoutionary leader, whose arrest was ought by the police, took possession of the palace. It is generally believed ne will at once organiez a new governnent.

Peru's sudden revolutionary trouble s due principally to President Billingpurst's earnest efforts to place the nances of his country on a sound asis. His scheme involved the strict est economies, and naturally proved unpopular, particularly among officeholders, who saw their salaries and estimates pruned.

At the end of last year congress refused to vote the budget, and Presilent Billinghurst issued a decree delaring that the old estimates would emain in force until the end of 1914. Petitions from many of the provinces were presented to the president, asking for the dissolution of congress, but all the political parties opposed his as unconstitutional.

THE GREAT

OPPORTUNITY

Great opportunity frequently comes disguised as an incident. What seems to be a little thing often proves to be a turning point in our lives.

Any day may bring the great opportunity. It is for those who have their eyes open—to see and to seize it. The day-to-day advertising in live newspapers like The Times is the voice of opportunity call-

To-day's message is to some one-perhaps you. Have you looked to see

The news in the rest of the newspaper has to do with things that have happened. The message of the advertising concerns the things that are about to happen. It is the voice of the world's work calling to live men and women to come and share in the good things provided. If you have not been a reader of the advertising, we urge you to look through to-day's newspaper and see some of the interesting announcements. Even if there is nothing that especially appeals to you, you will be the better informed for the reading.

Evolution of Billiards. The development of the billiard table has been interesting. In those far back days when billiards seem first to have become an indoor game, a billiard table was about the size of a big room. The average table was 30 feet long and 18 feet wide. The size was gradually and irregularly decreased until the present standard carom table was introduced at a billiard tournament held in Samson hall, Philadelphia, in 1864.
